

MISSING U. S. FLYER MAY BE GERMAN PRISONER

PARIS, Feb. 20.—American and French military officers today advanced the belief that Herschel McKee, of Indianapolis, American aviator missing since February 10, is a prisoner in Germany.

McKee left on a scouting expedition and was last seen flying at a high altitude beyond the German lines. The heavy gale blowing at the time is believed to have forced him to land. He is twenty years of age and had been flying since June last.

Not What You Eat But What You Digest Tells the Story. Eat Anything if You Follow With a Sturdt's Dyspepsia Tablet.

The Man or Woman Who Can Eat Heartily and Not Feel Awful Is the Welcome Guest Anywhere.

Many people just hate to eat in company. They prefer to "crawl into some byplace for a dyspeptic's plate of molly coddle. Business men often resort to this form of weakness under the belief they can work better. But it isn't what you eat but what you digest that counts. Some stomachs can't digest even a glass of milk. So they simply keep on feeding the dyspepsia and get gas, water, brash, sour risings and so on that the better informed and hearty eaters entirely avoid. This they do by using Sturdt's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Many physicians prescribe them for stomach troubles and digestive disorders. They are sold at every drug store, everywhere, price 50 cents a box.

Ask your druggist more about them.

SOCIETY WOMEN'S FOOD HONOR PLEDGE TO BE SIGNED TODAY

Members of the Patriotic Economy League, which was organized among society women of Washington early in the war, will be asked to take the "honor pledge" to adopt the Hoover voluntary family ration during the period of the war at a meeting at Raucher's this afternoon, under the auspices of Clarence R. Wilson, Federal Food Administrator for the District.

The league was organized by a committee composed of Mrs. Blaine Beale, Mrs. Manderville Carlisle, Miss Ernst, Mrs. William Corcoran, Mrs. A. L. Gardner, Mrs. W. M. Grinnell, Mrs. Charles Hamlin, Mrs. A. C. McClinton, and Mrs. Merrill McCormick. After the league membership subscribes to the pledge an effort will be made to extend the movement to all of the families in Washington where the food supply is handled by servants.

All of the 1,548 grocers in the District and their employees have been asked to attend a mass meeting tonight at Central High School auditorium. Theodore E. Whitmarsh, head of the Division of Food Distribution, will be the principal speaker. War pictures taken along the Belgian front will be shown, and described by Major Osterleith, of the Belgian legation.

CHAPLAINS' SCHOOL MAY HAMPER COAST ARTILLERY PLANS

That Fortress Monroe will be seriously inconvenienced by the establishment of a training school for army chaplains is the opinion of well-versed military authorities today.

Secretary Baker signed the order approving the school without any reference to the general staff of the army and without the knowledge of the chief of artillery, under whose department the fortress comes, according to information from authoritative quarters.

It is now stated that there is no room for the proposed school at the Hampton Roads fortress, which is rated one of the finest and largest coast artillery schools in the world.

Officers from the different coast artillery posts from all over the country are constantly being sent to Fortress Monroe for instruction, and there is also a large contingent of enlisted men studying there to fit themselves for commission.

It is stated that to establish a school for 500 or more chaplains in order that they may learn the military requirements of what the soldier considers a purely ethical position in our service, these non-combatants are going to impair a most important adjunct of necessary military training.

By their action in taking the matter up directly with the Secretary of War before approval was given by the general staff, the chaplains, having been given military rank, have shown their complete ignorance of military procedure and the need of some instruction in this respect. In the opinion of the officers, but the latter feel that the cost will be too great if this knowledge is to be gained by impairing the efficiency of the artillery schools.

Army officers also feel that if a chaplain becomes too imbued with a sense of his military importance his usefulness in the sphere for which he was commissioned—of being able to administer to both officers and men without reference to rank—will be entirely destroyed.

IF YOU ARE CALLED TO THE COLORS

For the men of Class I, soon to be drafted into the United States army, the Y. M. C. A. has prepared a "dope sheet" showing the various articles necessary for camp life. There is also good advice as to "What Not to Take," "Things to Do," and "Things Not to Do." The "dope sheet" summarized is as follows:

WHAT TO WEAR.

Strong suit.
Woolen underwear.
Woolen shirt.
Woolen socks.
Heavy shoes.
Overcoat.
Cap.
Fleece lined gloves.

WHAT TO BRING.

Suit case with strong lock.
Two extra suits woolen underwear.
Three extra pair socks.
Extra shoes, large enough for heavy pair socks.
Shoe strings.
Overboots or boots.
Handkerchiefs.
Soap and aluminum soap box.
Shaving outfit with safety razor, not straight edge razor.
Toothbrush and holder.
Tooth powder, not paste.
Pocket comb and mirror.
Needles, thread, brown buttons.
Black and tan shoe polish and dusters and brush.
Three bath towels.
Two wash cloths.
Waterproof match box.
Bag for toilet articles.
Small pillow with dark cover.
Fountain pen, pad of thin paper, and pencils, testament, $5 in cash, cashless pills.

WHAT NOT TO BRING.

Good clothes, collars, neckties, large amount of money, knick-knacks not mentioned above.

READING.

Before coming to camp read good books on the war. Some can be had free from the committee on public information at Washington, D. C. On spare time in camp study tactics and read military and other good books. Read the Bible.

THINGS THAT WILL HELP.

Come resolved to make yourself like it; plan to stay the limit; take things as they come; keep cheerful and smile when things go dead wrong; write home at least once a week; look wise and learn as fast as possible. The army is a school, take advantage of your opportunity.

Keep your eyes open and your mouth shut; silence and headwork are golden in the army.

Profit by the suggestions of officers. Look every man in the eyes in all your dealings. Obey orders strictly and promptly. Consider passes merely special favors.

Be congenial and a good mixer. Think of others.

Shoot respect for women. Get the thrift habit, save your money.

Carry war insurance.

THINGS TO AVOID:

Don't expect frequent furloughs. Don't bring any books except what you can carry in your pocket or throw away.

Don't grumble about your work, the grumbler gets the worst of it at the end.

Don't lie or exaggerate. Don't pose as a tough guy. Don't nurse a grudge when "bawled out" by an officer.

Don't talk back when called down unjustly or by mistake. Don't try for promotion by a pull. Don't let down; keep your standards high.

THINGS BUNK MATES EXPECT.

(Contributed by soldiers themselves.)

Leave whiskey alone.

Cut out profanity.

Avoid gambling entirely, no dice or poker.

Tell no smutty stories.

Steal nothing from the other man's store.

Return borrowed articles. Lend when possible.

Attend religious meetings occasionally.

Read the Bible.

"REGULARS" IN FRANCE APPEAL FOR BOOKS

"Books, more books, and then more books" is the cry that has come from the training camps, and the Public Library is preparing to help answer the cry.

"Please send us some books. We are in need of them. We are regulars, and get just as homesick as the national guard."

This was the picture of the plight of the regular, painted by one book hungry Sammy.

To meet the call, the American Library Association War Service has collected books. The Public Library of Washington has joined the movement and issued an appeal today to the residents of Washington to send in books.

"Books that you don't want any longer and books that you do, for no book is too good."

Contributions will be received at the main library, or any of the branches, George F. Bowerman, librarian, announces.

FOE OF DISLOYALTY SHOT DOWN IN OFFICE

SEATTLE, Wash., Feb. 20.—Ralph A. Horr, lawyer and candidate for mayor of this city, will recover, physicians today announced, from injuries suffered yesterday when he was shot by an unidentified man who concealed himself in Horr's office.

Horr had received a number of letters recently in which his life was threatened because he had made addresses denouncing disloyal citizens.

BILLY AND FLYERS WIN PLACES OF D. C. TRADE BOARD

British airmen who are daily thrilling Washington with their flights, Lieut. Col. Charles F. Lee and Lieut. J. A. Sully and Robert E. Finn, a member of the Canadian Parliament from devastated Halifax; Congressman John F. Miller, of Washington, and Billy Sunday, the indomitable Billy, with his trombonist, Roddy, were the speakers before the Board of Trade at its regular monthly meeting at the New Willard Hotel last night.

The airmen praised the flyers of the United States, especially the students training in Texas. When they compared the French, Italian, and their own airmen with the "boches," man for man, words of approval came from the 2,000 men present.

Thanks for Aid to Halifax.

A graphic picture of the Halifax explosion in December was given by Mr. Finn. He thanked America and Washington for the aid they had rendered the stricken people of his city.

Billy Sunday came to the meeting from the tabernacle at the conclusion of his night service and brought with him the story of the power of man—and the power of God.

"Some men," said Billy, "are framed to hang clothes on. Some men look like men because they have breeches on. It is hard to classify some men. But to be a real man is better than being an angel."

"But man is not master. God is still master. God never stepped up to the plate, fanned the air three times and walked back to the bench. No, sir. He puts it over the fence every time it comes across the plate."

Tells of Visit to Front.

Congressman Miller from Washington, a member of the Congressional mission of ten that visited the western war front, told of his experiences there.

President Gallinger promised that Congressman Miller would speak again before the board at next month's meeting.

The report of the committee on municipal art, Appleton P. Clark, Jr., chairman, urged that Congress authorize the appointment of a commissioner to formulate plans for the improvement of Pennsylvania avenue from the Capitol to the White House.

The Johnson anti-tenant profiteering bill came in for some criticism from the local board.

Mr. Sully, the special representative of the committee, reported, is based on the wrong hypothesis. There is no distinction made between the landlord and the tenant, who may be a soldier.

Want Nation-Wide Rule.

The committee reported that they might be in hearty sympathy with the anti-rent profiteering bill if it was applied to the entire United States, instead of just the District of Columbia. The committee further recommended the appointment of a rent administrator, whose duty would be to fix rents. All of the recommendations of the committee, which will make a further report, were unanimously adopted by the board.

Recommendations that the laws governing the sale of milk in Washington be applied to cream, cheese and butter and that proper standards should be made to safeguard candy and other foods on sale, presumably from being "glassed" were made by the committee on public health, and were accepted by the board.

The board placed its approval upon referendum 22, submitted by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, regarding after the war trade with Germany. Discrimination against Germany after the war will be made if necessary in self-defense.

USHER HINTS U. S. NAVY WILL SOON BE IN BATTLE

NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—That a great naval battle in the North Sea in which the United States will be involved appears probable, the United States Navy Admiral Nathaniel R. Usher, who is in the city as the guest of the emergency fund committee of the Naval Relief Society.

In giving his indorsement of the proposal to raise a relief fund of $2,000,000, Admiral Usher said:

"A great crisis may come within the next few months and we must have the funds to meet it. If our navy makes an attack on the German bases or otherwise in the North Sea a great battle is likely to result within a few months and then we will be in need of immediate funds."

SERVICE MEN NOW MAY DRINK LIQUOR IN PRIVATE HOMES

Soldiers and sailors may drink intoxicating liquors in their own homes and in homes where they are bona fide guests, according to a ruling just made by the War Department.

Other modifications and changes in the liquor regulations are being considered, it is stated, and Raymond Fosdick, chairman of the Commission on Training Camp Activities, is planning to make detailed recommendations to the War Department covering the question of some limits in which saloons are permitted in the vicinity of training camps.

BAKERS OF U. S. PLAN DRIVE FOR VICTORY BREAD

Washington bakers are to be aided in turning out Victory bread by the National Association of Master Bakers. The association has just appointed a committee headed by Win M. Campbell, of Kansas City, to place before all of the bakers the most successful recipes.

Under the committee's direction formulas for the use of various kinds of cereals as substitutes for wheat flour are being perfected by experts in the trade and will be sent to the presidents of State associations of bakers and to the section leaders of the national association for distribution to every member of the baking trade.

In addition, practical demonstrations of the best methods of baking Victory bread will be given in every county in the United States. Bakers who have achieved the greatest success in the use of wheat flour substitutes—and there are hundreds of them throughout the country—have volunteered to speak before bakers' meetings and to demonstrate in a practical way to the members of the craft in their locality how best to use the new formulas.

In short, the technical service committee proposes to place the experience of the ablest bakers of the country at the service of every member of the trade in order that he may both help himself and the food administration by producing a Victory bread that will satisfy the most exacting taste.

TOO MANY "Y" MEN FOR SERVICE FLAG

The absence of a service flag from the front of the Y. M. C. A. central building is explained today. Secretary William Knowles Cooper declares that the project was in mind some time ago, but when officials commenced compiling lists of "Y" boys in the service, it ran up to 400 and the idea was abandoned.

The staffs of the organization have been greatly depleted by the end of the war. Mr. Cooper says, and it is with the greatest difficulty that competent men are obtained.
